Newsletter Gleanings from Ricardo Leyva
missionary to Cuba

This letter is getting to you late because I was in the middle of nowhere in a remote area in Cuba. I did not have access to a computer nor an internet connection. I came back to civilization on August 10, and will catch you up on our ministry.

I have a small group of people in a small town in Velasco Holguin, ready to start the Bible Institute, but I am short on the materials needed. Some are currently being used by another group of students at another church. I am waiting for more supplies to come for the rest of the things I need.

In July I was invited to preach a missions conference in a mid-sized town in Mexico. This was their first missions conference. At the close of the conference, the many blessings blew my mind! Four young men surrendered their lives to the mission field. Every church member pledged a Faith Promise, even the young people. They voted to take on eight new missionaries. God is good!

There is a small restaurant in Cuba that I visit more frequently than others. They have changed cooks several times through the years. I witnessed to the current cook and asked her if she wanted to be saved. She said "YES, but I am too busy right now." I followed her to the kitchen and she laid her hand on the Bible and asked Jesus to save her. Amen!
